

An aerial photograph of the Belmont Public Library and its surroundings. The library building is a large, multi-story structure with a flat roof, situated in the center-right of the image. To its left is a large, open parking lot filled with cars. Further left is a road with more parked cars. In the top left corner, there is a smaller building and a large, circular paved area. The background is filled with dense trees. The entire image is overlaid with a semi-transparent dark grey filter.
